Qualified immigration:

An opportunity for Austria's economy

Demographic change and increasing digitalization: In order for Austrian companies to remain competitive, they need qualified specialists. The domestic potential of skilled workers cannot fully meet these requirements.

The solution: recruiting qualified international specialists for the Austrian labor market.

Education, professional and personal skills and international cooperation play a central role in the development and strengthening of global labor markets. This is precisely where WIFI International comes into play:

- As an educational partner for the global world of work, WIFI International prepares skilled workers from third countries for the requirements of the Austrian labor market.

You want, we qualify:
Skilled workers from abroad for Austrian companies

WIFI International supports the International Skilled Workers Offensive (IFO) of the Austrian Chamber of Commerce and Austrian companies with educational initiatives that promote qualified immigration. In particular, this involves the identification of skills and the implementation of qualification measures.

These training initiatives aim to qualify international skilled workers for the Austrian labor market. The basis for this is formed by test procedures to determine skills, which are a key instrument in the recruitment of international skilled workers. They are the starting point for skills development through language courses, intercultural training and coaching, which facilitate integration into the labor market.

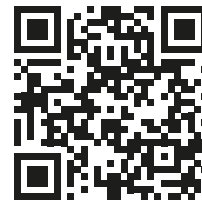

Our commitment to the global world of work: Services that ensure qualified personnel

- Higher qualification of foreign skilled workers before immigration
- Intercultural training (culture, cuisine, customs and communication)
- International assessments & coaching
- Language placement tests with language level certificates

The key to qualified immigration: skills assessment
